

GE ranked as #1 Global Company for Leaders

Aon Hewitt, the global human resources and consulting company, ranked GE first on its annual Global Aon Hewitt Top Companies for Leaders list. The list has become the most comprehensive global leadership survey since it first appeared in 2001, analysing links between leadership and financial performance.

View article →

Intern Applications Now Open

GE's early career pipeline accelerates your development and will take you far - Starting with a 1-year IT internship, you gain valuable experience within one of GE's major business units including leadership exposure. Interns then have the opportunity to apply to the 2-year graduate IT Leadership Program (ITLP) which continues to develop technical aptitude and business knowledge. The pipeline is followed by other programs which fast-track your career even further.

Find out more and apply now →

GE Partnership with Indiana University

One of our recent enhancements to ITLP is a new partnership with Indiana University, a leading US university. As part of the program ITLPs complete a 15-credit IT Leadership Certificate over the two years on-program. Beyond the two years, ITLPs can apply these credits towards respective Master degrees.

View article →

My time as an IT Intern with GE Healthcare

Laura Collins started her Internship with GE Healthcare 3 months ago. Read the full blog to find out what Laura and other IT interns are working on.

View blog →

Connect with us

Having trouble viewing this e-newsletter? Click here to request PDF

Privacy Policy | Terms of Use | Contact Us | Unsubscribe

© Copyright 2014 General Electric Company